Introduction

India's chemical industry is a dynamic powerhouse, with a remarkable valuation of $178 billion, placing it as the 6th largest market globally and the 4th largest in Asia. Home to over 80,000 diverse chemical products, India's specialty chemicals segment stands at the forefront, representing more than 50% of the nation's chemical exports. With a projected growth to $24 billion by 2029, this segment is poised for a remarkable transformation, driven by innovation, sustainability, and global competitiveness. Key exports such as active pharmaceutical ingredients (APIs) and dyes highlight India's integral role in global supply chains and underscore the country's potential as a leader in the chemical sector.

As India continues its ascent as a leading manufacturing hub, the India Speciality Chemicals Conclave 2025 provides an exceptional platform to explore the nation's strategic journey toward becoming a global leader in specialty chemicals. This prestigious gathering will bring together industry experts, government representatives, and academia to engage in insightful discussions focused on the nation's national trade priorities, innovative industry-academia collaborations, and the growing importance of skill development in driving sectoral growth.

To discuss the above and related issues, ASSOCHAM is organizing India Speciality Chemicals Conclave - Enablers to Make India a Sustainable Specialty Chemicals Hub - on 23rd April 2025 at Hotel Le-Meridien, New Delhi.
