Nextgen Technologies for a Progressive Food Processing Sector

May 29, 2025 | New Delhi

Background

The food processing sector is the backbone of India's agricultural economy, acting as a critical link between the farm and the consumer. It plays a pivotal role in reducing post-harvest losses, enhancing food security, and adding value to raw agricultural produce. To unlock its full potential and overcome existing challenges, the sector is now embracing cutting-edge technologies that are reshaping the way food is processed and distributed.

With the advent of Industry 4.0, the food processing sector is witnessing a paradigm shift through the integration of emerging technologies. Innovations such as automation, artificial intelligence (AI), blockchain, the Internet of Things (IoT), and advanced data analytics are revolutionizing the way food is processed, packaged, stored, and distributed. These technologies not only enhance productivity and quality but also address critical issues like food safety, traceability, and energy efficiency.

This national-level event aims to accelerate the adoption of next-generation digital and automation technologies, and drive R&D collaboration and innovation across the food processing industry. By doing so, it will contribute to the realization of the "Make in India" and "Atmanirbhar Bharat" initiatives, fostering a globally competitive and technology-led food processing sector.

Keeping in view the need of the hour, ASSOCHAM proposes to organise the National Conference on FOOD TECH: Nextgen Technologies for a Progressive Food Processing Sector on May 29, 2025 in New Delhi. It is a timely initiative that aligns with India's national vision for a developed and self-reliant future—Viksit Bharat. The conference will provide a platform for key stakeholders from government, industry, academia, and the startup ecosystem to converge, discuss, and deliberate on the transformative potential of emerging technologies in food processing. The event will focus on digital solutions that address current challenges, redefine efficiency, and drive a future-ready food processing sector in India.

Objectives

The primary objectives of the conference are to:

- 📱 Showcase cutting-edge technologies and innovations in the food processing industry.
- 🤝 Provide a platform for stakeholders to collaborate, share knowledge, and network.
- 💡 Discuss policy frameworks and strategies to promote the adoption of emerging technologies.
- 🤝 Facilitate partnerships between government, industry leaders, startups, and academia to foster innovation.

Key Discussion Areas:

SESSION

01

Tech Revolution in Food Processing: Trends, Challenges and Opportunities

This session will explore the latest technological advancements in food processing, including AI, IoT, and automation. Experts will discuss industry trends, key challenges such as cost and regulatory barriers, and emerging opportunities for innovation and efficiency.

SESSION

Bridging Innovation and Industry: The Feasibility of Next-Gen Food Tech

This session will examine the practicality of adopting next-gen food tech solutions. Industry leaders will discuss scalability, investment needs, and policy support while assessing how ready the sector is to integrate AI, robotics, and smart manufacturing.
